Anyone around the Canadian country music scene in the early to mid 1980's will remember Alberta-bred Kelita Haverland as one of the rising country stars of the day; in fact she was the CCMA's Rising Star award winner in 1983. Her two country albums yielded a string of impressive Country chart hits...and she balanced her 'country' stylings with some comedic work, recording under the name of Dixie Lee. Kelita Haverland then became Kelita...and not too long afterwards she switched gears and devoted her life and music to Christian / Gospel leanings. Country fans basically lost touch.

Kelita, now filled with Faith - Inspiration - Healing - Hope (as described in her promotional material), is back with a new album, which certainly lives up to her ideals. In fact, Kelita personally identifies her Heart Of A Woman album as:- "truly the CD I have been waiting my whole life to record. I recorded it off the floor (at studios in British Columbia) without any cutting and pasting or pitch correction. I played (piano) and sang the songs at the same time".

Indeed the songs that Kelita has created and presents here are filled with inspiration, faith and hope; and she delivers them with a pristine vocal styling. It's not likely that country radio will be the venue to hear them, so if this is of interest to you, visit www.kelita.com to learn more; and/or to purchase your copy.
